Critical Bridges
Meeting Challenges
at Points of Transition in Education
by Working Together

In this educational DVD, you will find a series of programs dealing with education and transitional stages experienced by people with disability.

Hosted by the Disability Council of NSW and the NSW Department of Education and Training, this series of programs brings together people with a great deal of personal and professional experience to discuss, debate and inform us about three important stages of transition;

- Firstly, young children with disability and their transition to school;
- Secondly, adults who have acquired a disability later in life and their re-adjustment back into society, and
- Lastly, students with disability who are transitioning to post-school destinations.

The Critical Bridges series highlights some of the challenges people with disability face today as they navigate their way through society. We hope through viewing this DVD you will gain a better understanding of the ways government and community organisations can work to achieve meaningful outcomes for people with disability and their families.

We have drawn together senior representatives from Government Departments, people with disability, disability community organisations, service providers and parents. We hope to provide an opportunity to explore the range of issues experienced by young people with disability, their families and their service providers.
